Subject Line: Tell Congress: No new factory farms

Jamie,

It's time to break Big Agriculture's stranglehold on our food system.

The Farm System Reform Act intends to do just that.

This groundbreaking solution calls for an end to new factory farms. It also includes tons of reforms to take back our food system and build one that serves us all.

Jamie,

Among other things, the Farm System Reform Act would:

- Transition current factory farms and food growers to operations with free-roaming livestock, specialty crops, or organic staples.
- Hold multinational companies like Smithfield Foods and Perdue accountable for spreading dangerous animal waste.
- Provide $100 billion in voluntary buyouts to contract farmers if they leave factory farming.

Factory farms pollute our air and drinking water, drive climate change, exploit workers, torture animals, and prevent smaller farmers from thriving.

Jamie, add your name to urge members of Congress to support the Farm System Reform Act. This is a critical moment in the fight for a cleaner, more just food system.

[TAKE ACTION BUTTON]

Food System Defense Council is working in coalition with hundreds of organizations from across the country to demand that Congress pass this groundbreaking bill to end existing and new factory farms.

The planet can't take any more farm pollution – AND we won't let agribusiness companies control what food we eat.

Thanks for taking action,
